To Whom It May Concern,

The purpose of this letter is to recommend Scott Wildey wholeheartedly for a position in your company as a graphic designer. My name is Leeana Tankersley, and I am a six-time published author and the co-founder of The Finding You Project.

I have known Scott for over 20 years, and I have worked with him on a variety of print and digital design projects throughout our working relationship. Scott consistently delivers quality work, on deadline, with proactive communication throughout the scope of the project. I have worked with him one-on-one as well as witnessed him in a team environment, as both a leader and a team member, and I can confidently attest to Scott's leadership skills, his collaborative mentality, and his creative eye.

In addition to his expertise in creating logos, Scott has a knack for typography, color, and texture in his design. He knows how to bring brands, slogans, campaigns, and titles to life through his years of translating and interpreting concepts into visuals. Not only is Scott a prolific creative, he is also able to receive constructive feedback, implement changes into his work, and meet deadlines.

As a veteran designer and leader, I know Scott will bring experience and expertise to your team. I have observed him consistently contribute to any environment he is in, and I know you would be fortunate to add his skills and his maturity to your team.

Sincerely,
